PRELIMINARY HEARING

Preliminary hearing is an informal hearing to determine whether there is probable cause to believe that a violation occurred. Any parolee, who has allegedly violated the conditions of supervision and is in custody based upon a warrant for said violations, or alleged violator of Suspended Sentence who will be held beyond their suspended sentence release date, has a right to a preliminary hearing.

[] Preliminary hearing on parole violation not required under certain conditions. A preliminary hearing as provided for in § 24-15-23 is not required if: (1) The parolee is under arrest and being held on an order issued by a jurisdiction other than the Board of Pardons and Paroles; (2) The parolee left the state or other approved jurisdiction without authorization and was apprehended outside of that jurisdiction; or (3) The parolee was convicted of a felony or misdemeanor in a South Dakota court or a court of another state or a federal court {SDCL 24-15-23.1}.

At the preliminary hearing you have the following rights:

1. To be present at such hearing.
2. You have the right to remain silent; if you choose to testify on your own behalf you give up this right and will be subject to cross examination.
3. To know the charges filed, indicating the precise rules violated and the circumstances alleged.
4. To be present when witnesses testify against you and to cross examine them. The only exception to this rule is if the hearing officer determines that the witness may be subject to risk or harm if their identities were disclosed.
5. The offender may present his/her own witnesses who can give relevant information concerning the violation. These witnesses cannot be character witnesses. The hearing officer, however, may terminate questioning if the testimony becomes irrelevant, repetitious, or excessive. It is your responsibility to produce your own witnesses as the hearing officer does not have subpoena power, or the funds to assure the appearance of any witness for the preliminary hearing.
6. To present any relevant evidence in the form of letters, affidavits, or documents.
7. You do not have a right to an attorney at the preliminary hearing unless the hearing officer has reason to believe that you are incapable of understanding the proceedings.
8. If the preliminary hearing is conducted and the hearing officer finds probable cause or if you waive the preliminary hearing, you will then have the right to a final hearing in front of the Board of Pardons and Paroles at which hearing you will have the right to an attorney.

The hearing will most likely be held telephonically and will be recorded. At the end of the hearing the hearing officer shall make a finding of probable cause or lack of probable cause and a brief statement describing the basis for the finding. The hearing officer will forward a written report to the parole board and cause a copy of the same to be served on you.
